IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

Monday, county court day, Sheriff Walter Boyd received a tip that moonshine whisky was being sold in any quantity desired somewhere near town. Boyd and his deputy Sam Estill quickly left town in search of the vendor and bagged their game in Newt Shront's barn, less than a mile from town. They arrested and brought before Judge Atchison a man by the name of T. J. Boaz. Boaz had about a gallon of liquor in his possession and the case against him seems to be conclusive. He was released on bond furnished by Dell Downs. It has been an open secret that moonshine whisky was dispensed here regularly by men apparently immune from arrest, and the whole community is pleased that of them, one has been captured. If reports are true Boaz is not the only one engaged in this illegal traffic and a little vigilance on the part of the town and county authorities may result.

THE MIDLAND TRAIL

A meeting of business men of Owingsville and vicinity held at courthouse Wednesday morning for the purpose of discussing ways and means of securing the Midland Trail through Owingsville. R. W. Kincaid was made chairman and J. R. Ammerman secretary. After some discussion of the matter it was determined that the best way to attain the object in view would be through an association of business men similar to boards of trade in other towns, and the organization was immediately begun. The organization is to be known as the Business Men's Association of Bath County. R. W. Kincaid was elected chairman, Shanklin Piper secretary, Leslie Shront treasurer and Haden Lacy, Ford Patterson, E. L. Byron, J. R. Steele, Crit Vanarsdale, Sharpshooter, A. H. Points, Salt Lick, A. G. Shront, Reynolds, Trumbo Snedegar, Wyoming, S. V. Johnson, Preston, Clyde Young, Olympia; J. P. Ballinger, Bethel, directors.

A man by the name of Wiloughby shot and instantly killed a young man by the name of Denby Ramey across the river in Rowan county, near Licking Union, which is in Bath county. It is said that Ramey became very angry at Wiloughby because he refused to divide his whisky, telling Ramey that he already had too much. It is said that Ramey followed Wiloughby home and was very abusive, finally told Wiloughby to come out of the house and he would give him what he needed. Then Wiloughby stepped to the door and with a shotgun shot Ramey dead.

Dawson Tapp

Dawson Tapp whose home was three miles west of town, died Friday morning after a brief illness. His death is said to have been due to an overdose of moonshine whisky. He was a son of Richard Tapp, deceased, and was 46 years old. He is survived by his wife, who is a daughter of Isaac Conyers, deceased, and four daughters, Mrs. Everett Warren, and Mrs. Mitt Weedon, of Cincinnati, Mrs. Peterson, of Paris, and one unmarried daughter at home. The burial was at Owingsville cemetery, Saturday, after the funeral services at home.

Dislocated Ankle

Mrs. Jacob Kincaid met with a serious and painful accident Saturday night when she fell from her front porch, dislocating her ankle. The ankle was so badly out of joint that the side of her foot instead of the sole was turned to the ground, the ligaments being torn. The injury is a very painful one and Mrs. Kincaid will be confined to her bed for some time.

An interesting feature of the Mercury is the publishing each week of portraits and brief biographical sketches of former prominent citizens of Carlisle and Nicholas county. Last week's paper contained an excellent picture of Rev. W. F. Caldwell who was pastor of the Sharpshooter Presbyterian Church for about 30 years and died in that town in 1898. He was also pastor of Springfield Church, this county.

Joe Redmond, an aged colored man, died Saturday night after a lingering illness. He was said to be 90 years old.

According to the weather service people the hot spell of weather now probably at an end for awhile, was the longest recorded in 47 years.

MAYSLICK BOYS' BAND WILL PLAY HERE JULY 30

The Mayslick Boys' Band will play for the picnic at Kimbrough's Park Saturday, July 30. There are 38 musicians in the band dressed in white uniforms and it is hoped everybody in Owingsville will be able to hear them.

The American Legion offers $250,000 to any boxer who was a member of the Allied forces to defeat Jack Dempsey the heavy-weight champion pugilist.

Monday was the last County Court day before the August primary and there was a large crowd in town. Electioneering was the chief feature of the day.

HERE IS THE SHINGLE

You find them on the finest 20, 30 and 40 thousand dollar houses as well as the 4, 6, and 8 thousand dollar houses.

They are popular on the 40 thousand dollar houses because there is no more naturally beautiful material to put on a roof than the attractive Indian red or the artistic sage green slate. The low price makes them possible on less costly homes.

And they wear better.

Neither wind, nor walking on them, nor fire nor old age, nor the blow of a hammer will cause them to crack. The asphalt in them protects nail-heads from rusting off and shingles coming loose.

The slate surface makes them spark-proof. They satisfy insurance and building law requirements.

Finally—they stay flat.

WOULD GO FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE

Tennessee Farmer Wants to Go From House to House and Tell Everybody About Tanlac.

"I were not so busy with my work if I would go from house to house to tell the people about Tanlac," said A. J. Livingston, a well-known farmer, living near Ashland, Tenn.

"I had stomach and kidney trouble and suffered torment with my back and side. The doctors could do nothing for me, so I wrote to a friend of mine in Nashville about Tanlac, and he advised me to try it, saying he had heard so many favorable reports about it and sent me a bottle.

"After taking the first bottle I felt so much better that I ordered another bottle myself and the result is I am a well man. I told a friend of mine about it and ordered a bottle for him and he had good results. I can eat anything I want and it don't hurt me, and can sleep like a log. To tell you the truth, I just simply feel like a new man and have more strength and energy than I have had in years. It is simply the grandest medicine in the world. I would like to see all of my friends and get those who are suffering to try it, and I hope you will reach them through this testimonial, which I have gladly given."

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine, which accomplished such wonderful results in this man's case, is a wonderful tonic, appetizer and invigorant. It builds up the system, creates a healthy appetite, promotes digestion and assimilation of the food and makes you feel strong, sturdy and well as nature intended.

Diners Follow the Leader.

"People are like sheep," said the cynical writer. "When a dinner is to be ordered for a party of six there is generally one master mind who will select the kind of soup he wants. Almost invariably the others will take the same kind. So it goes down the line. There is no individuality. Yes, I'll admit I usually suggest the more expensive dishes to the master mind. It boosts the check."—New York Sun.

LAND IN DEMAND

Why Western Canada Can Take Her Pick of Settlers.

Opportunities and Conditions There Appeal to the Most Desirable Possibilities of Country Provided.

While Canada wants settlers, and is pursuing every legitimate means to secure them, it is realized, as pointed out by Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration and colonization, that selection is necessary, and in order to keep undesirable out of the country legislation is passed that will definitely have this effect. As pointed out by the minister, the class of settlers which Canada stands most ready to welcome are those who desire:

Opportunity to acquire good farm land, either free or at a cost within their means.

Opportunity to live in a country under beautiful conditions and liberal laws and among an intelligent and friendly people.

Opportunity to live in a country where children receive free public education and where all children are enabled to start in the life of the world as nearly as possible, equal advantages.

Opportunity to live in a country where industry applied to the land will produce something more than the bare necessities of life, and will afford within reasonable time comfort and independence.

Opportunity to live in a country where ambition is not handicapped by any creed, birth, or class, but where every citizen has the right to aspire to the highest position in his or her chosen walk in life.

These are the conditions which will appeal to the most desirable people for this or any country, conditions which, to a certain degree, make an automatic selection of the fittest.

Canada possesses farm lands in large areas which may be had free or at a cost within the reach of the settler of limited means. Vast areas are available for settlement within reasonable distances of railways. Land values have in the last quarter of a century received a tremendous impetus, so that any good farm land now available will be secured at a price within the reach of the settler at reasonable prices is an attraction. Such lands today are probably more attractive to the settler than were the free homesteads of the pioneer era. The country has been tried out; the possibilities have been proved; the trails have been beaten; the foundations have been laid. Railroads, telephones and public roads have been provided; market towns dot the prairies and other agricultural districts; schools, churches, and all the marks of modern conditions of life abound. Records which have been kept over a period of years establish the fact that Western Canada's grain production is greater per acre than that of probably any other new country. It is worthy of note that the production of grain per acre in many of the older countries has increased with the intensified farming methods which the very high cost of land made necessary. This condition does not yet obtain to any extent in Canada, and yet the yield compares favorably with some such countries in which the cost of land is much greater than that in the farming districts of the Dominion. In most cases present owners of Canadian farm land who are not cultivating it themselves are willing to sell at moderate prices and on terms arranged for the convenience of the purchaser, provided that the chaser is prepared to go into actual operation and bring the land under cultivation and cause it to produce. That is the kind of settler which Canada wants and to whom it extends open arms.—Advertisement.

PRESIDENT HARDING VISITS CAPITOL

URGES BONUS BILL BE PLACED ON SHELF UNTIL PURSE OF NATION IS FATTER.

Accepts Full Responsibility For Action—Certain Proponents of Veterans' Relief Measure Will Oppose Administration Plan, 'Tis Reported.

Washington.—President Harding visited the Capitol unheralded and conferred for more than two hours with his former colleagues on the formation of a veterans' legislation program. When it became known that the President was in the Senate wing of the Capitol the Republican side of the aisle became deserted except for Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, who remained calm and didn't even flicker an eyelash. The President was surrounded quickly and retreated with his erstwhile colleagues into the Senate dining room, where he passed an hour lunching. Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, was among those who partook of the meal.

This happened during the discussion of the McCumber soldier bonus bill and a call of "no quorum" was sounded. Headed by the Republican floor leader, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, the runaways returned, but went away as soon as their names were called.

The President retreated into the President's room, situated just off the Senate floor, and one by one conferred with an even dozen of the Senators, among them Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, Democrat, poked his head into the room and asked, "How do you do?" President and Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, the Democratic floor leader, talked for a long time, supposedly about the bonus bill, which Mr. Underwood opposes. He is a close personal friend of Mr. Harding. The result of the conference is said to have been:

1. The President's postponement of action on the McCumber or soldier bonus bill by recommending it to the Senate Finance Committee, from which it was reported with strong recommendations for its passage.

2. Consideration of only the legislation, such as tariff and tax measures, for which the special session purposely was called.

3. A "process of recesses" in the Senate during the summer months while waiting for tariff and tax legislation to come over from the House.

Officer Made $14,500.

Ottawa.—Testimony was given before a Canadian investigating soldier frauds in foreign exchange, in which it was charged the Canadian Government lost several hundred thousand dollars, that a former Ottawa policeman made $14,500 in this manner and left the country. The Government agreed, when English money fell heavily, to pay to its returning soldiers the difference between the allowances they received abroad in English money and what these allowances would mean in Canadian money at the normal rate of exchange.

Senate Stands Pat.

Washington.—Although agreeing to the bulk of the provisions in the $400,000,000 naval appropriation bill, as voted recently by the House in attempting to dispose of differences between the two bodies, the Senate refused to yield on 19 amendments, and sent the measure back to the House with a request for further conference. The amendments on which the Senate declined to recede include provisions for two airplane carriers, aviation stations and increased expenditures for battle ships under construction.

German Kultur.

Leipzig.—Lieut.-Gen. Karl Stenger, charged by the French Government with having ordered troops under his command to take no prisoners and kill wounded men during the fighting August, 1914, was acquitted by the German Supreme Court here engaged in the trial of cases against alleged war criminals. Major Bruno Criegel, tried on a similar charge, received a sentence of two years in prison and was forbidden to wear the German uniform.

May Restore Sight.

Vienna.—Successful eye grafting was described by Dr. Koppányi in a lecture before the Biological Society here. He said that he had transplanted new eyes in blind fish and rats, successfully following the optic nerves so that subjects regained sight. Dr. Koppányi sketched a method by which he said it would be possible to restore partial sight to blinded soldiers if others could be found willing to sacrifice an eye for the purpose.

Car Strike.

Dayton, O.—Dayton's third street car strike in four years was called, in accordance with previously announced plans. Five hundred employees of six lines walked out following a meeting where the matter was put to a vote. The decision to strike almost was unanimous. Alleged failure of the companies to respect the arbitration agreement is given as the principal cause, although the reduction in wages from 62 cents to 45 cents, maximum, figured in the deliberations of the men.

Three Killed in Crash.

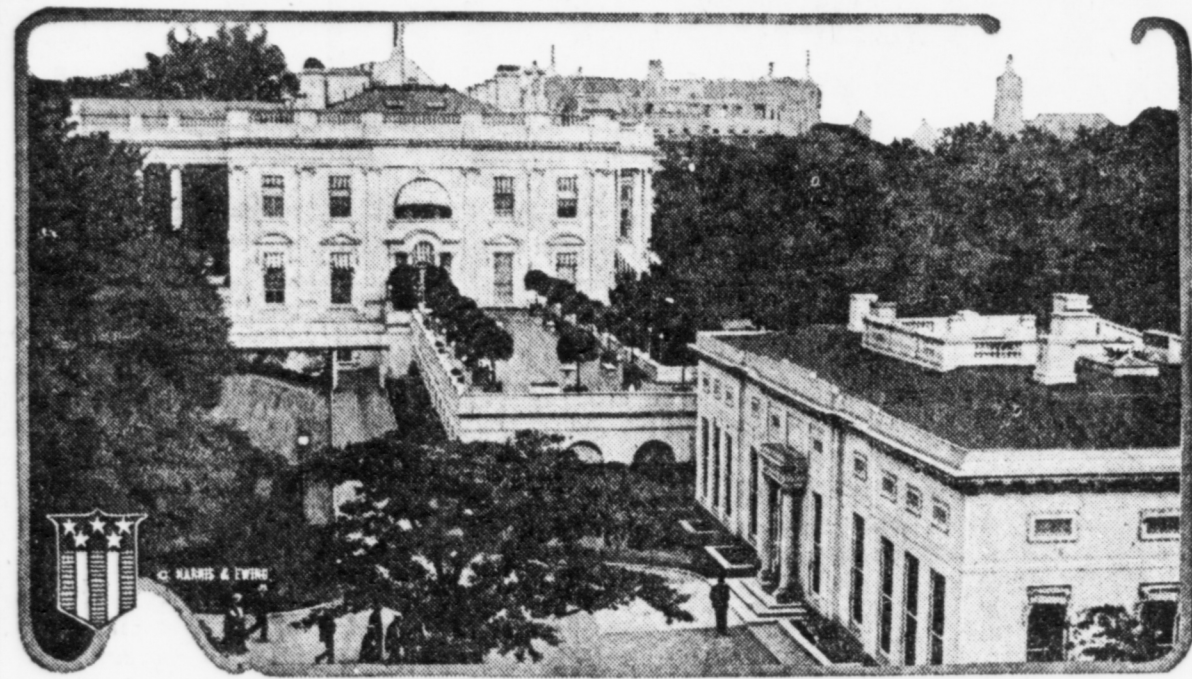

Detroit, Mich.—Two men and a woman were killed and a woman was injured seriously when an automobile driven by Charles Butzin, of Dearborn, Mich., crashed into the engine of the Pere Marquette line's Toledo express at the West Warren avenue crossing. The dead were: Charles Butzin, 38 years old, Artillery engineer; Mrs. Rachel Sharpe, 25 years old, 5880 West Jefferson; and Mrs. Lillian Herrman, 22 years old, 4485 Cicotta avenue.

Comedian in Hard Luck

Berlin, reports the London Daily Express correspondent, has been suffering from a new strike of electricity. The government employed soldiers and its new force of technical volunteers to break the strike.

Bitter feeling was aroused by the suddenness of the walkout. In the hospitals the lights were suddenly cut

BRITAIN AROUSED OVER IRISH ISSUE

POSSIBILITY OF ARMISTICE IN IRELAND AWAKENS GREAT EXCITEMENT.

South African Premier, General Smuts, Will Not Return to Dublin Unless Officially Invited to Preside at Conference—Crowds Block Streets.

London.—Sentiment regarding the prospects of peace with Ireland is undergoing spectacular fluctuations here, where the topic is monopolizing the attention of all classes of people. Popular interest in news development in the Irish situation has been gathered all day in the Strand and other main arteries of traffic buying every edition of the morning and evening newspapers. Posters plastered on the walls eloquently reflect violent revulsions of feelings from hour to hour.

The crowd waiters from hope to despair, from certainty to doubt. Owing to the continuation of the Foreign Office's policy of official secrecy the public is plunged in perplexity which only is enhanced by variations and inconsistencies in the tone of semi-official statements.

The paramount question still is the armistice. Information supplied from an authoritative source was that a formal written truce would be drafted at the Dublin conference. Yet it was declared that the truce would take the form of an informal "gentlemen's agreement" that both sides would abstain from organized hostilities as long as negotiations are in progress.

General Jan C. Smuts visited Buckingham Palace, it is understood, at the request of the King, who desired to obtain first-hand information about the status of Sinn Féin sentiments. The South African Premier will not return to Dublin unless he is officially invited to preside at the conference at the Mansion House.

New Gun.

New York.—A silent gun that will shoot a paragon explosion gas bomb 200 or 300 miles at a velocity of one to five miles a second is in process of development by Hudson Maxim and a group of associates. The system is based on a new principle in the explosion of ordinary smokeless gunpowder. In a demonstration conducted in a New York skyscraper, a steel bullet three inches long and a half inch in diameter was shot through a three-quarter-inch steel plate at a velocity of one mile a second.

Epidemic Traced To Milk.

Lexington, Ky.—Eighty-five per cent of typhoid fever cases in this city can be traced to a milk supply, according to Dr. Mark V. Ziegler, of Washington, epidemiologist, who investigated the cause of the localized epidemic. Dr. Ziegler does not at all suspect that the milk was contaminated before it left the dairy, but he announced that the supply had been cut off and that the peak of the epidemic had been reached.

Robbed of $200,000.

Philadelphia.—Joseph Hascall, New York jewelry salesman, reported to the police on arrival here that a case containing diamonds and other jewels valued at $200,000 had been stolen from him on a train from New York. Hascall said he had the case beside him at his feet, and that he missed it soon after leaving Trenton.

Given Coat of Tar.

Ft. Worth, Texas.—True to his oath to Ku Klux Klansmen, who first tarred and feathered him, and then dumped him, naked, in the street in which he was the city's business section, Benjamin Pinto, 28 years old, left Tarrant county. His whereabouts, according to his relatives and friends, is unknown. The Klansmen, surrounding Pinto, ordered him to leave in 48 hours. "I will get better," he answered. "But after the others, too." Pinto is a member of a well-known family.

Money Flows Into Treasury.

Washington.—Total tax receipts by the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30 were $4,599,933,248, of which $3,212,713,489 was derived from income and profit taxes, the Bureau of Internal Revenue announced. The statement was based on Collectors' telegrams of June 30, it was said, and it was explained it might be necessary to make slight changes. The statement showed that of the total collected New York, with $1,124,351,706, paid more than one fourth and led all states.

Auto Hits Man In Bed.

Delaware, O.—Struck by an automobile while asleep in his bed in his home here provided Levi Nackle the thrill of his life. Just before daylight the Nackle became conscious of the fact that his bed was being pushed rapidly across the room. Opening his eyes and turning over, he found two glaring headlights confronting him. Nackle's home, one side of which was crushed by the machine, is located just off an abrupt right angle on the Ashley road. The car was driven by Burton Windsor, of Mt. Gilead.

OBJECTS TO TARIFF LAW

Americans Can Have All Facts That Are Vested in French Say of Levies in List.

Paris.—The French Government forwarded to J. Jusserand, French Ambassador in Washington, for transmission to the State Department there, a protest of the French Chamber of commerce against the provision of the new American tariff law calling for inspection of the books of French exporters by American agents for the purpose of determining ad valorem duties to be collected by the United States. French exporters are said to be disgusted greatly over this feature of the tariff measure, and declare that under no conditions will inspection be tolerated.

It is pointed out that such a privilege as the American law requests is not accorded even to the French Government. French exporters have been gathered all day in the Strand and other main arteries of traffic buying every edition of the morning and evening newspapers. Posters plastered on the walls eloquently reflect violent revulsions of feelings from hour to hour.

The crowd waiters from hope to despair, from certainty to doubt. Owing to the continuation of the Foreign Office's policy of official secrecy the public is plunged in perplexity which only is enhanced by variations and inconsistencies in the tone of semi-official statements.

The paramount question still is the armistice. Information supplied from an authoritative source was that a formal written truce would be drafted at the Dublin conference. Yet it was declared that the truce would take the form of an informal "gentlemen's agreement" that both sides would abstain from organized hostilities as long as negotiations are in progress.

"Is a Sacred Mission."

New York.—Myron T. Herrick, former Governor of Ohio and appointed for the second time to be Ambassador to France, sailed on the steamship France, of the French Line, for his post in Paris. Mr. Herrick calls himself the "Ambassador Without a Home." His son, Farnley Herrick, he said, had been searching Paris vainly for two weeks for a home. Before sailing Mr. Herrick said: "Mine is a sacred mission, for the world looks to us alone to bring about the economic reconstruction of Europe."

Report To Be Offered.

London.—David Lloyd George, Prime Minister, stated in the House of Commons that he was fairly hopeful of being in a position to make a statement concerning the Anglo-Japanese treaty soon. He added, however, that such a statement would depend on the replies received from the United States and China. Premature declaration, Mr. Lloyd George asserted, would interfere with the success of the negotiations now in progress.

New Sultan Demanded.

Athens.—The Turkish National Government in Athens, according to advices from Constantinople, has demanded that Sultan Mohammed VI. abdicate. The latter has replied he was ready to abdicate in favor of any member of the imperial family, with the exception of Prince Abdul Medjid, the legal heir, who belongs to the Nationalist party, the advices add.

Peace Design Proposed.

Washington.—Now that the United States is at peace it is going to be commemorated. Representative Albert H. Vestal, of Indiana, chairman of the House Committee on Commerce, Weights and Measures, has been waiting since Congress convened to report out a bill authorizing new coinage. With the signing of the peace resolution by President Harding, Mr. Vestal reported his bill out favorably. It will change the design of all new dollars coined, appropriate to the commemoration.

Monarch's Mummy Finally at Rest.

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Siefert Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pottsville, Pa.—"I suffered with female trouble for four or five years and was very irregular. I was not fit to do my work at times and took medicine from a doctor and got no benefit. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and took it and got all right. I remain healthy and strong and am now able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may see these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. SALLIE SIEFERT, 313 W. Fourth Street, Pottsville, Pa.

The everyday life of many housewives is a continual struggle with weakness and pain. There is nothing more wearing than the ceaseless round of household duties and they become doubly hard when some female trouble makes every bone and muscle ache, and nerves all on edge.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Siefert did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Live Up to Their Name.

The French invented the automobile, and they also invented the name. It is derived from the Greek "Autos," self, and the French "mobile," movable, all so uncertain and changeable. Perhaps it is because of its name that some automobiles are so temperamental. One can't very well call a thing uncertain and unchangeable and expect it to act in any other manner.

The New Habit.

"Are you having any difficulty enforcing prohibition in Crismon, Guich?" "No," replied Cactus Joe. "Man is the creature of habit, and while we dunno whether we approve of it or not, we can't help but be surprised at the number of men that has contracted the habit of not takin' a drink."

Didn't Do the Expected.

"It is hard to forecast what a person will do or say under stress," said a former army officer.

"We were taking a troop train through a town in Kentucky during the war, when a sergeant came up to me and said that the town was the home of one of the men, who had been married just before he joined the army, and that if we were going to stop for any length of time, perhaps the man question might be permitted to see his wife."

HOT WEATHER DON'TS
Eat as little as possible. Don't eat articles of food that are hard to digest. Don't let your appetite get the best of you. Bathe often so as to keep the pores clean and the body healthy. * Don't drink extremely cold ice water, or too much water after being overheated.

If these hints are followed, there should be very few prostrations, ptomaine poisoning or other sickness traced directly to the excessive heat.

A Discreet Forbearance.
"Hiram," said Mrs. Cornsossel, "you don't talk politics as you used to." "None," replied her husband, "we've elected our public officials. Public officials are servants of the people, and my experience is that when you've got a good hand anxious to settle down to work it's a bad plan to worry him with idle conversation."

True Art.
Art should seek its inspiration in the world beyond ourselves. It must glow in an atmosphere of aloofness and detachment. It is near must come far, and the far must recede into the mists of infinity.—Anne Simon.

JOB WORK

of all kinds done on short notice at reasonable prices. Give us a trial.

Unlettered Presidents.

At least one of our Presidents, possibly two, never went to any kind of a school. The father of Andrew Johnson died when the lad was five years old, and his mother could not spare the money to educate him. This condition of poverty caused Andrew to be apprenticed to a tailor. He worked long hours and hard. One day a man brought a book to the shop and recited many selections that it contained. Andrew's ambition was stirred. With the man's help he learned the alphabet. But he made no real progress until his marriage. His wife read to him as he pined the needle. She helped him to learn to read and write. She was his school. Largely through her careful, patient instruction he was enabled to become the mayor of the town in which he lived.

Nobody Wants Bungler.

There's no place in progress for the bungler. The business man gets rid of the bungler as soon as he can. No organization wants the bungler on its rolls. Furthermore there's little excuse for the presence of such a nuisance. Above all, there is no need for you to miss things up. You will do that occasionally in spite of your self, because you are falsely reported, misunderstood or over-zealous. But you don't have to make a regular thing of it. Correct the past by a more careful present and you will be wiser through the mistake. So too in, and boy, and make good. You have the world before you and your friends are waiting to help you celebrate the victory.—Grit.

Making Joss Sticks.

The composition of the candles called joss sticks, which are used in all the religious ceremonies of Buddhism, has long remained a mystery. The preparation of the sticks chosen from a limited class. Not long ago, however, the secret was discovered. The making of joss sticks in Indo-China. A stem of bamboo is rolled into a preparation containing 14 different odoriferous drugs, two of which are significant, as showing a knowledge of chemical and physical properties. These are the ingredients which are used to protect the sticks against the attacks of rats and mice, and camphor, which causes them to burn steadily without being periodically extinguished.

Said About Women.

"Man the dry land, and woman, she is the sea. For wherever she digeth in the earth, he findeth out the substance of it. But he that digeth in the water is for ever fighting his contrivances."—From "The Book of Arctamas." "If you describe a right woman in a laudable sense, she should have gentle softness, tender fear, and all those parts of life which distinguish her from the other sex."—Sir Richard Steele. "Last among the characteristics of woman is that sweet motherly love, with which nature has gifted her, and which is independent of cold reason and wholly removed from all hope of reward."—Harder.

Proof of War's Havoc.

In spite of the fact that the sea-going tonnage of the United States is today nearly 10,000,000 tons greater than in 1914, an advance of more than 500 per cent, and in spite of the intensive steamship production in Great Britain and the United States for themselves and other countries, the world's steel steam tonnage is now less by 3,200,000 tons, a loss which would have been if the war had not interfered with the normal rate of expansion.

Rainfall Like Noah's Deluge.

The total annual rainfall upon all the land of the globe amounts to 2,347 cubic miles, according to the United States geological survey. Department of the Interior, and of this quantity 6,524 cubic miles drains off through rivers to the sea. A cubic mile of river water amounts about 4,205,000,000 tons, and carries in solution an average of about 420,000 tons of foreign matter. In all about 2,735,000,000 tons of solid matter is thus carried annually to the ocean, and a good deal of this is naturally the fertile soil washed from the fields.

Marvels of Carving.

On one side of a tiny mustard seed a Mr. William McCleary has carved an elephant, and on the other side a spider! Mr. McCleary claims, without much fear that his title will be disputed, to be champion carver of the minute. He carries a walking stick on which are no fewer than five hundred figures of men, animals, birds and fishes, for which, he says, he has refused an offer of $500. Even his watch and chain and the buttons on his clothing are marvelous examples of his curious decorative skill.—London Tit-Bits.

Simple Reason for Thrift.

Its Practice Necessary That There May Be Margin of Production Over Consumption.
Is it not more cashless for one who can afford to buy and does buy silk skirts and silk stockings and automobiles, and who freely admits that he wastes money, but who justifies himself somewhat beligerently by saying that he can afford to waste money, and that it is nobody's business, to object to other people doing the same sort of thing only because he thinks the other people cannot afford the expenditures? Right down in our hearts we know that the concern is not all with the welfare of those other people who are wasting their money; it is really a matter of jealousy and of class distinction based on clothing—a feeling that these people have committed social misdemeanors, as when the cook dispensed her mistress' hat. And any one who preaches thrift to people on the ground that they should not have what they like for their money is simply preaching nonsense. It is really preaching revolution.

If, then, thrift has no virtue in itself, if every person within the limits of the law is entitled to spend what he can earn, and more than he can earn if he can get away with it, is there any unimpaired reason for thrift? The answer for this is plain. It is not necessary to talk about morality. It is simply that if we do not have thrift we shall not have a margin of production over consumption—that is, we shall not have capital. If we do not have capital we cannot have progress, for we shall have no means wherewith to make improvement in existing facilities for production. There is the danger of extravagance. And it is a very real danger.—Samuel Crowther. In the North American Review.

PAPER FROM VENEER WASTE.

Possibilities in Material That Has Hitherto Been Considered to Be Without Value.
In the wood waste from veneer factories the United States forest products laboratory has discovered a material suitable for the manufacture of high grades of paper. The cores of many kinds of veneer logs, now used in a large part for fuel, would make excellent pulpwood. In addition, a large part of the clippings could be turned into pulp stock with profit.

Among the veneer woods possibilities are red gum, yellow poplar, cottonwood, birch, tulpe, basswood and beech. Many veneer factories cutting these species are already within shipping distance of pulp mills. In certain other cases veneer factories are so grouped that they might furnish pulpwood enough to warrant the erection of a centrally located mill. Other economic factors being favorable, such a mill could probably operate on a daily supply of veneer waste equivalent to 20 cords of ordinary pulpwood.—Scientific American.

"Roast" Handball Players.

The execrations uttered by the indignant baseball fan against the indolent baseball player in America are as gentle murmurs compared with the epithets hurled by the occupants of the galleries at contestants in the game of hand ball in the playgrounds of Madrid, Spain. "Rogue!" "Tidiot!" "Convid!" and "Idiot!" are some of the mild terms with which the players are greeted when they miss a ball or when they are in a poor position for the opponent to play it.

The reason for this excitement is the prevalent betting, in which the women spectators participate as much as the men. Professional bookmakers attend all matches, and their shouts of encouragement or condemnation are mixed with the cries of the gambling spectators, until the scene resembles a boudoir.

Buddhist Priests Tame Fish.

There is a certain bend of a certain river in Burma, where the fish are venerated, and treated as pets and called to meals by priests. Just why this particular bend of this special river should be so signally set apart is not known, but as these priests are Buddhists there is perhaps a connection between the veneration of the fish and the fact that in every land where Buddhism is the faith, there are certain places dedicated to Buddha, and strange superstitions woven about the place. These fish are a species of catfish which grow to a large size, and they swim to the bank when called. The priests not only feed the fish, but they pet them as we do a dog or a cat. Some are so tame they do not even squirm in fright when they are picked out of the water and gently handled.

Have Abject Belief in Fate.

In the Koran is found the idea that on the brow of every human being are inscribed invisible characters which decree the events of his life and his appointed time. The first is termed "Kismet," the second "Edel." From this belief springs unquestioned submission to the decrees of fate. Death is considered by Moslems terrible only in the abstract and when viewed from a distance. In police society it is never mentioned save under some poetical name. "Uphearer of the sphere" is one of the more common phrases. And never is it mentioned except when prefaced by the words "Far be it from you."

Libraries in History.

Harvard college led the way in America to the first library. This institution was established in 1636. Sixty years later, in 1700, a public library was founded in New York city. The following year the Yale library was founded and in 1781 Benjamin Franklin started a subscription library in Philadelphia. The first of its kind in America. The United States Library, now called the Library of Congress, was established in 1800, but in 1814 it was burned by the British. It was rebuilt and now contains nearly 2,000,000 volumes, and is one of the finest in the world. As far back as 540 B. C., the first public library known to the world was founded at Athens. England's first library was established at St. Andrew's in 1411.—Chicago Journal.

BATH COUNTY RURAL SCHOOLS OPEN

Forty of the forty-six rural white schools began their 1921-22 term on Monday of this week, with bright prospects for a successful year's work. The teaching force is better prepared this year than ever before, and their professional standing is higher than in previous years. Under a ruling of the Board of Education no teacher is employed this year who has not had at least five weeks Normal Training. The last week of the Institute was devoted to a study of the school laws, the Course of Study and the rules and regulations of the County Board of Education.

Teachers were urged to begin their work this year with a determination to produce lasting results. With a splendid spirit on the part of the teaching force, with the close supervision offered by the County Superintendent and Supervisor, with the co-operation and support of the patrons, Bath County Schools should, this year, make a record for themselves.

Sept. Kincaid will spend four days of each week visiting and supervising schools. On Monday and Saturday of each week he will be in his office. Those desiring to consult the County Superintendent should call at his office on one of the above days.

Even a better attendance is expected this year than last. The Court of Appeals has held the Compulsory Attendance Law constitutional and has authorized its complete enforcement. Neither the County Sup't, nor the Attendance Officer has the legal right to excuse and child from attending school. The only legal excuse that can be accepted is sickness certified to by a physician. Persons seeking to have their children excused from school through any other source are wasting their time. Any excuse obtained through any other channel would be illegal and would not offer any protection from the penalties of the law.

The scarcity of teachers again this year has, to a certain extent, handicapped the beginning of our schools. Every available legally qualified teacher has been employed and yet two schools are without teachers. Teachers have been assigned to the schools where, everything being considered, it was thought they could do the best work. The one thing most needed is the co-operation and help of the men and women of the county. No teacher can succeed unless she has the support of the patrons of the district. Even a poor teacher can do fairly good work if she is properly supported. Stand behind your teacher, even though you are not wholly pleased with her. Remember that the education and training of your children is the one big task; that your petty irritations, your fault finding, your constant complaining is but a stone in the path of educational progress.

Lykes-Whitton

Friday, July 8, Andy Irvin Lykes, of near Wyoming, and Miss Lillian Whittom, of near Odessa, were married. Mr. and Mrs. Clea Riddle, cousins of the bride, accompanied them. The groom who has been an orphan since infancy was an overseas soldier and comes recommended as a man of sterling quality.

The bride who is a daughter of Mrs. Zela Whitton was lovely, dressed in pure white for the occasion. May their pathway ever be as bright as it is now. We extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Lykes.—Contributed
